IN MEMORIAM

NALLS— In loving remembrance of our baby who died 3 months ago, October 12, 1918.

Just three months ago, dear Harry—
Since you passed away to rest
Though you are gone you're not forgotten
By the ones that loved you best.

For oft our thoughts go wondering
To a grave not far away,
Where lies the sweetest memories
That will never fade away.

No one knows how we have missed you
In these days gone by—
When you left us sad and lonely
For your home up in the skies.

Though you are gone you are not forgotten
And your place can ne'er be filled,
We will keep your memory cherished
Until our hearts in death are still.

By his heart broken mother and Father,
Harry and Grace Nalls.

In loving remembrance of my dear daughter, Helen L. Kendricks, who went to rest three months ago today, October 13, 1918.

She has left us, gone from earth, yes, gone forever,
Tear dimmed eyes shall look in vain,
I shall hear her voice no never,
Never more on earth again.
Called by God, who knoweth best,
Sweet in my memory
She will always remain,
Until in heaven we meet again.

By her devoted mother and father,

WOMAN PLEADS TO DIE

Mrs. Lebaudy Who Killed Eccentric Hsuband to be Arraigned Wednesday—Guarded in Her Home—Jury Begins Probe of Shooting.

Westbury, Long Island, Jan. 13.—Every precaution is being taken today to prevent Mrs. Jacques Lebaudy, who on Saturday night shot and killed her husband, eccentric millionaire and self-styled "Emperor of Sahara," at their beautiful home at Westbury, from committing suicide. The grand jury met this morning for an investigation. An indictment of first degree murder is expected without delay.

Minnie Weidner, the nurse, is constantly in the room with the woman. All night long Mrs. Lebaudy lay moaning and screaming. Most of her words were unintelligible. All the listeners could make out from the woman's incoherent cries were the words: "Oh, God! Oh, God! Forgive me!"

Outside the door was a guard—detective Barbuti, of District Weeks' staff. Two other detective, O'Connor and Thorne—were on guard downstairs.

Owing to the woman's condition it has been impossible to remove her from her home to the jail. A physician is almost constantly in attendance.

While no statement has been made as to what the woman's defense will be, it is believed that she will plead self-defense; that she killed her husband in order to prevent him from doing bodily harm to herself and their fifteen year old daughter, Jacqueline.

At the grand jury investigation today five witnesses were examined—the nurse, Frances, the cook; Jules Lascomb, the gardener; Jacqueline, the daughter, and Harry Greenstein, the chauffeur of Mineola, who drove the taxicab in which Lebaudy went to his home on Saturday night to testify as to the queer actions of Lebaudy while in the taxicab.

Lascombe is expected to testify to the eccentricities of Lebaudy and of "scenes" between the "emperor" and his wife.

The nurse, who was upstairs with Mrs. Lebaudy just before the shooting, is expected to testify regarding the happenings just prior to the slaying of Lebaudy.

Francis, the cook was in the kitchen when Lebaudy burst through the door Saturday night, acting strangely and carrying a can of kerosene in his hand. Her testimoney will likely dwell on Lebaudy's strange actions just before he was shot.

The daughter's testimony will, in all likelihood, detail the various quarrels between her mother and father.

There was no witness to the shooting.

The grand jury will meet in the same room where Mrs. Blanca De Saulles and Mrs. Florence Carmen, central figures in two other Long Island killings, were indicted. Both women were acquitted.

Mrs. Lebaudy, if she has sufficiently recovered, will be taken to court on Wednesday and arraigned for the crime.

An element of mystery has entered into the case in the statement of Edward F. Murdock, personal attorneys for Lebaudy, who said that at Lebaudy's trial in October, 1915, after his arrest on a charge of assault, the slain man had testified that Mrs. Lebaudy was not his wife nor Jacqueline's mother.

P. E. W. Morse, of Mineola, Lebaudy's attorney, in reply to Murdock's statement, said.

"Mr. Murdock's statement is without foundation Lebaudy and his wife lived together in many cities here and abroad as man and wife. They have lived as man and wife for years in common law, and he has always considered the girl, Jacqueline, as his daughter. We have proof of this."

RICHMOND —"LITTLE WOMEN"

Rich in pathos, humor, sentiment and sweet charm, "Little Women," the celebrated story written by Louisa M. Alcott, has for fifty years exerted a wide appeal upon the reading public of the world. "Little Women" has been translated in many languages and its beauty has been recognized in foreign lands with the result that the little heroines of the book—Meg, Jo, Beth and Amy are the most celebrated characters in literature.

This wonderfully appealing story has been filmed and as a Paramount-Artcraft special picture, it will be shown at the Richmond theatre tonight. Every man, woman and child in the city who has read the story should see it on the silver screen, for it visualizes the celebrated characters which will never fade in the memory of those who laughed and cried over the novel in their youth.

DIRIGIBLE FLIES OVER

Big Airship on Way From New York to Florida—Passes in Sight of Alexandria Yesterday Afternoon—Passengers Suffer From Cold.

The largest naval dirigible in this country, the C-1, flew over this section of the county yesterday on its way to Key West, Fla., from the Naval Air Station at Rockaway Beach, N. Y.

The craft is 192 feet long and carried a crew of six men, under command of Capt. V. C. Parker, commanding officer of the Rockaway Beach Station, It left about 9 o'clock yesterday morning, soared over Philadelphia, Chester, Wilmington, and Washington, and landed at the Naval Air Station at Hampton Roads in the afternoon. From that place it will go to Brunswick, Ga., make a landing, and thence proceed to Key West.

Reaching Washington, the giant dirigible descended from a high altitude, floated about for about 20 minutes before locating the White House, and then dropped so low that the men aboard were almost discernible.

Captain Parker said that the trip was without incident except that he and his men, mostly officers, suffered from the cold.

The flight is not in the nature of an experiment, as the navy has developed this type of air craft to a remarkable degree during the war. Others of this type were used to good advantage both in this country and in France and in England as patrols.

GRAND THEATRE

Friends and followers of handsome Bill Desmond, Triangle's star, are going to have a chance to see what their screen favorite can do in the role of a western bad man when he appears at the Grand Theatre tomorrow.

Handsome Bill has hitherto played in everything but westerns. His ability to mix it, man to man, is pretty widely known. How good he is with the six-guns is to be seen by his friends.

As Chick Ward, bad man of Salinas, Bill steals a kiss from a little eastern lady, is met by a stinging slap for his pains, tries to reform to meet said lady's approval, but unfortunately, bad hombres will be bad and he is forced to fight it out with guns.

TROUSSEAU CLUBS FORMED BY ENGLISH GIRLS

London, Jan. 13.—English shop and factory girls planning "demobilization weddings" are forming trousseau clubs.

Members pay weekly installments ranging upward from one shilling, or 24 cents. At regular intervals drawings are held at which some member receives the whole amount in the club's treasury with which she buys her trousseau, furniture, or household linen. The club's existence continues until each member has won the drawing.

Employers are encouraging the clubs, although they know that each drawing means a vacancy in the staff.

INGOMAR—BORDER RAIDERS

"The Border Raiders," at the Ingomar tonight, featuring Betty Compson, as an intrepid cowgirl as ever took to saddle, and George Larkin, robust dare-devil of the screen, is a drama of ranch life with an entirely new twist. It has to do with opium smuggling and cattle rustling, directed by the brains of a master-craftsman of evil; with a "Vamp" adventuress who works by an entirely novel method.

Some of the exciting incidents, upon which this story by Frank Beresford and Jack Cunningham is founded, are recorded in the annals of the United States Secret Service. The interest that holds you is created at the very beginning. There are thrills aplenty, but the romance is a big dramatic feature because of its tense climaxes and sudden surprises.

THE SPREAD OF BOLSHEVISM

Bolshevism, the aftermath of the recent terrible war, is as a hideous phantom before those who are endeavoring to restore peace in the world. According to dispatches from London, Lord Northcliffe declares it is the biggest menance to future peace.

The great city of Berlin is no longer a safe place in which to dwell, that capital, the breeding spot of the war, being now seething in revolt. People are being shot down in the streets, robberies and burglaries have long since become common incidents in the city as "Red" terror is being proclaimed. We are told that since the outbreak of disorder thirteen thousand Spartacans have been killed in street rioting. A general strike has been called for the 19th of this month, election day, and this is being regarded with the greatest apprehension.

The Russian empire is no longer a peaceable country, Bolshevism had its birth in Muscovy, and, like a prairie fire, is spreading toward every point of the compass. So-called republics, remnants of former empires, are springing up daily, and such political births are accompanied with much disorder, often bloodshed.

The work of the Peace Conference is about to commence, but who can say that all nations interested will be content with the findings of this body of representative men of the peace-loving portions of the earth? That it will be impossible to meet all the demands of the former belligerents goes without saying.

The world has been dreaming that ere the Easter bells shall have sounded this year the dove of peace will be brooding over the entire earth. So mote it be. This may follow so far as the clash of armies is concerned, but strikes and rioting and murderous acts of Bolshevists are likely to rage long after the swords of the warriors have been replaced in their scabbards.

Such conditions, however, have ever been the sequels of war. They may prove temporary incidents, as has been the case hertofore, but still who can at present tell what is in the womb of the future?

PRUSSIA NOT ON NEW MAP

"The animosity of a great majority of the Germans toward Prussia will have a decisive influence on the future configuration of central Europe," said Count von Hertling, the former Imperial German Chancellor, recently. Among other things the late Chancellor said:

"At Munich, as at Stuttgart and Cologne, there is a resentment against Prussia for having so badly steered the common ship, and let it be understood that by Prussia, not the country, but the caste and the political system are meant. Existing Prussia is incomparably stronger than all the other confederated States, but it does not represent a homogeneous ethnical bloc, but an agglomeration of widely different provinces. If the present ideas follow their course, momentous historical events soon will occur, and the name of Prussia will disappear from the map of Europe.

"In the new Federal Germany there will be no place for the disproportionate Prussia, surrounded by feeble satellites. The new Germany will comprise six or seven States, approximately equal in importance. Instead of Prussia, we will see the state of Brandenburg and Pomerania, the State of Hanover and the Lower Elba, the State of Westphalia, bound by federal ties to Bavaria, to Saxony and to Wurttemburg, and itself united to the old Grand Duchy of Baden."

THE GOSPEL OF DUTY

There have been wide-eyed moments when men have longed deeply for universal peace, and wished to see no more the symbols of warfare, says a writer in Scribner's, "and yet every title of our liberty today has been won for us by men who were not afraid to fight, not an inch of it by whining, or we should still have been in serfdom and in chains. For the sword can be bared in the most holy name of God. The blood of battle has been poured and shed by those who feared that name. Although Christianity is the gospel of peace, it is not the gospel of cowardice—if, indeed, cowardice can have any gospel. Although a man be a Christian, there are duties which he owes to his own soul, his own nation and his fellow men. It may well fall to his lot to hold the spear while others labor, or work while others are fighting in a holy cause. For duty neither sleeps nor lets you slumber. She calls you, wakes you, smites you above the heart, and will not let you go. Whosoever most fears God fears to sit at ease so long as there is one wrong in the world to be righted or one truth crushed and trampled in the mire. True Christianity is the truest, manliest, greatest, bravest thing that earth has ever seen; and it never feared yet to draw the sword in a good cause when nothing else could save righteousness from the overmastering bondage of evil."

THE DESTINY OF FRANCE

Several years after the war between Germany and France Victor Hugo said:

"France will suddenly arouse herself. She will become formidable. She will regain Alsace and Lorraine. Is it enough? No! No! She will capture—listen—Treves, Mainz, Cologne, Coblenz. And you shall hear France cry; "The clock strikes my hour! Germany, hear me! Am I thine enemy? No, I am thy sister! I have taken all from thee I return all to thee upon one condition: That we shall no longer be a divided people; that we shall be one united family, one republic. I will demolish my fortresses, thou mine—my vendetta is brotherhood. No more frontier. The Rhine, mine and thine."

M. Baxter, an Engish clergyman, who devoted much of his time to the study of the prophetical portion of the Bible, spoke over two score years ago substantially as the great French author. He said that ere many years France would revive to such an extent as to attack Germany and force the latter beyond the Rhine, and that Germany would then no longer be a menace to France or any other nation.

"HEALTH SUNDAY"

Blue Asks That Special Sermons be Preached on February 9 All Over Country.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Surgeon-General Blue, of the United States Health Service, has asked the ministers of the country to set apart February 9 as "health Sunday." On that day they are asked to deliver sermons stressing the social responsibility of the nation to protect the returning soldiers as well as the community at large, and especially to inaugurate vigorous measures for combating various diseases.

A proclamation by Surgeon-General Blue to this effect has been sent to the ministers with the request that it be read from all pulpits.

AS HARDEN SEES IT

World Swept By Revolution Into Utopia of Nations

A concrete outline of the League of Nations, as conceived by Maximilian Harden, is contained in his issue of the Zukunft of October 26, a copy of which has just been received here. In it he portrays an international league that will legalize and guarantee as world-wide legal tender all the outstanding certificates of war loans of the various European states, a solution which alone he deems possible in view of the tremendous depletion of actual European money holdings now and in the near future, due to the wastage of war. He describes also the relative positions and functions of the various European nations in the Utopia of the league. In the article he says:

"We do not desire a peace that is an armistice, but rather an armistice from which shall come forth a firm and noble peace—Europe's Eastertide. We want it today, because it is today possible and therefore, necessary. We, all human beings who are not blinded by unreasoning fury, whose number each day increases in a throng ing mass and for which there sound from both camps, man by man, the voices of the dead.

Far off there still stands aloof only those who imagine that this war is in its essence similar to other wars and that it can, indeed must, end like others, with victory and surrender, treaty and indemnity. To these there has not yet come the dawning reallzation that the safest, the only consequence of this war will be the most tremendous revolution of all times, one that sweeps blazing through Europe, that plows up the entire continent, one compared to which those of 1789 and 1793 may seem but a mischievous sport of children; and that every man of good will and natural piety must fervently labor to protect this revolution from blood-guiltiness and to confine it to the world of the spirit.

"No state, no class, neither man nor woman, will after this war, after this deluge, be as before. Constitution and law, prejudice and deliberate judgment will, like reeds at the water's edge, be snapped by the whirling storm. Let us take care that from the votive altar of the new league (the league of humanity, animated with a god-like soul), a lovely fragrance shall be wafted heavenward, like Noah's grateful incense on the day when the second dove brought back in its bill to his ark the olive branch through the foilage of which shone the message: Peace on Earth!

"No State that was snatched along into this flood of the Deluge can expect other indemnity than those which can be effected by thrift and savings. That great power which curtails its annual expenditure for land and sea forces by a single billion, may, after another generation, once more behold the rosy drawn of financial order. And what is to become of the debts and the sinking funds? For the savings barely suffice at the utmost to cover, after a fashion, the new needs that drag along in the train of the war. Taxes and customs duties that would yield even the interest on the tens of billions of debts would necessarily paralyze trade and industry in competition with America, Australia, and the Yellow World; would necessarily grind to bits the idea of private property; would, in fear of possible confiscation of property, drive those who are half way satisfied into neutral countries of a healthier management; and would eat away the entrepreneur's will to dare any extensive operation as mould decays the rose leaf. Money does not grow like grass. What, then, shall happen?"

MAY OPEN RHINE TO ALL

French Demand Will be Made to Peace Confernce to Give Republic Sarre Basin

Paris, Jan. 13.—When the peace conference officially inaugurates its work on January 20, according to the Echo De Paris, there will be brought before it for consideration a memorandum of a French demand for the Sarre basin. The memorandum will also include a plan for the internationalization of the navigation of the Rhine, with special advantages for nations bordering on that river.

The program France will propose as host to the peace conference is understood to provide first for presentation of the status of a society of nations and the appointment of a committee to consider it and make recommendations to the full conference. The next step would be settlement of the status of Germany, Austria, the Balkans and other Eastern countries.

The adoption of the recommendations of the Committee on a League of Nations, according to this program, would be the final act of the conference. It is pointed out, in support of this method of procedure, that while the announcement of the framework of a league of nations must form the basis of the work of the conference, the completed plan of a league logical ly will come up last, since it must safeguard all the decisions of the conference.

The proposal to give preference to the question of the status of Germany after the appointment of a League of Nations Committee, is explained by the theory that decisions regarding Austria and the Eastern countries will hinge upon the conclusions reached regarding Germany. It is suggested that it would, for example, be impossible to settle the future of German-Austria without knowing the decisions affecting Germany.

If France took the initiative in refusing to deal with the Russian Bolshevik government, declares the Excelsior, the London and Washington Governments have made it known that they "agreed absolutely with the French viewpoint."

WOUNDED ON STREET CARS

Crippled Heroes Get Little Attention in Washington Says Visitor to Capital

James G. Gessford, just back from Europe, and who has been making trips about the city in street cars, said yesterday that the consideration given American wounded men in Washington is scant when compared with the attention they get in Paris and London. He bases his observation on the way pasengers treat the legless men and other wounded on the street car line to Walter Reed Hospital.

"I have seen men get up and give their seats to pretty girls and then stand on their crutches and wrestle with a strap," said Mr. Gessford. "The idea of folks abroad is just the reverse. When a wounded man gets on a "tram' in London, the conductor shouts 'Wounded soldier!" and women, as well as men, jump up and give them a seat.

"Words or salutation meaning 'Bless you' are given to the maimed men when they get on a street car in Paris, and they are helped to their places. There is a queer sort of appreciation in Washington shown the men who fought, and the spirit is manifested in many ways. In Washington there is a want of consideration, as I judge it from riding the cars. It is carelessness, perhaps, but wounded men should not be permitted to stand while strong persons occupy the seats. The men feel, too, that they are not being treated right."

General Strike in Buenos Aires Part of Anarchistic Movement for the Western Continent.

Buenos Aires, Jan. 13.—The general strike here is part of an anarchistic movement which will spread to the United States and the rest of the world unless it is stamped out at once, Gen. Luis Dellepiane, self-imposed military dictator told the United Press yesterday.

Dellepiane said he was acting on his own initiative but said he was confident that the President approved his course.

"The trouble is due to Russian anarchists, who used the strikers as a pretext," declared Dellepiane. "The socialists have withdrawn their support of the movement which is not confined to Argentina. It will spread to the United States—in fact throughout the world—unless it is checked now.

"The military forces at my disposal at present are not sufficient to put down the movement immediately. But I intend to depend strongly upon President Irigoyen, who approves my action.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

At a called meeting of the Board of Directors of the German Co-operative Building Association No. 5 of Alexandria, Va., the following resolutions were adopted.

"Whereas, in his wise, but, inscrutable will, Almighty God has seen fit to remove from our midst, Douglass Stuart, for many years past our counsellor and attorney, who was always a faithful officer of this Association, and its untiring servant.

And, Whereas, we grieve his loss, not only to us one and all his friends, but, as a faithful worker for the building and uplifting of our City and Community.

And, as a mark of our love and respect and esteem; Be it resolved: That out of respect for his memory that the Officers and Board of Directors of the German Co-operative Building Association attend the funeral in a body, that its office be closed at the time of burial and that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Association and sent to the members of the family of the deceased and a copy also be published in the Alexandria Gazette.

FINLAND FACING HUNGER

Hunger is beginning to gnaw at Finland and other Baltic countries. One and a half million Finns "are actually facing extreme privation in food." According to an official State Department report today from American Minister Morris, Stockholm.

Southeast Finland, the agricultural district is not badly off, for there the farmers are hoarding their grain. But in Helsingfors and the rest of Finland, the situation is acute and needs immediate attention, said Morris.

REPUBLIC PROCLAIMED

Communists in Bremen Have Sent Message to Ebert Demanding Government Resign

Basel, Jan. 13.—A Socialist republic has been proclaimed at Bremen, according to a dispatch from Munich. The communists in Bremen have taken the places of the majority Socialists on the soldeirs' and workmen's council, and have sent a message to the Ebert government, demanding that they resign. They are also reported to have sent a telegram to the Russian Bolsheviki expresing the hope that the revolutionists in Russia and Germany would be victorious.

EUROPE NEEDS OUR COAL

American Bituminous Exporters Plan to Relieve Acute Shortage.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—Organization under the Webb-Pomerene law of an expert coal association as a medium through which the country's foreign trade in bituminous coal may be handled, was recommended by the Foreign Trade Committee of the National Coal Association in a report made public.

Leading bituminous coal exporters, it was said, will meet at New York within a week or ten days to consider the report and decide upon a course of action.

Officials of the Fuel Administration who have investigated conditions in Europe have reported that there is an acute shortage of coal in most of the countries there, and that America will be called upon to furnish a large amount of the needed tonnage if shipping is made available.

WETS PREPARE TO FIGHT

Will Perfect Organization in Maryland For Action Against Prohibition

More than 100,000 members of labor and other organizations were represented yesterday afternoon at the weekly meeting of the Maryland Branch of the Anti-Prohibition League when 463 delegates and representatives convened at Moose Hall in Baltimore for the purpose of performing organization and formulating plans for effective and immediate action.

A unique phase of the League's attendance was the fact that though many said they do not drink, they resent strongly the idea of being deprived of any "personal liberties." Several fiery speeches of indignation were made, stressing the action of members of Legislature "who have been traitor" to the people who elected them. The speakers also indorsed the adoption of the "initiative, referendum and recall" as an amendment to the Constitution, as the only logical means of retaining the sway of popular opinion.

The local branch of the Bridge and Structural Ironworkers is in accord with the aims of the league, it was announced by Matthew J. Cummings, its president. He declared the organization was flatly against prohibition, and that it would make every effort to retain its "personal liberties." All the representatives of the labor men of the city, who were present, informed the meeting that plans for a nation-wide demonstration against prohibition are now being discussed and formulated, and that it promises to be one of the broadest of its kind ever staged.

Numerous fraternal and social organizations were represented at the meeting, including the Moose, the Elks and the Odd Fellows.

STILL A MYSTERY

Body of Young Woman Found in James River at Richmond Unidentified

Interest in the identity of the dead woman whose body was found two weeks ago on the banks of the James, is waning because of the failure of the police to find a clue upon which a definite conclusion to the mystery can be based. Police authorities have done all in their power to unravel the mystery, but up to last night nothing had come to light to place them any nearer in their hunt than they were the day the body was found on the river bank.

The brother of Christine Ford, of Lynchburg, was thought to have been on his way to Richmond last night with information that might aid in identifying the dead woman as his sister. But he had not reported to the police up to a late hour last night. Christine Ford has been missing for several weeks, having been last seen in Richmond December 14. Ford went to the morgue several days ago to view the body, and thought that there was a slight resemblance to his sister in the form of the dead woman. He returned home, however, for other descriptions of her clothing, but nothing more has been heard from him.

Richmond detectives are working on the case with all the means at hand. They have been unable, however, to unearth anything of importance connected with the unknown woman. The main hope of a solution of the mystery hangs on the identity of the woman, and secondly, on whether or not she was murdered. She may have taken her own life, police admit, though the presence of the wire around her body seems to discount the suicide theory.

PLEA FOR KAISER'S TRIAL

Sons of the Revolution Pass Resolution to Ask Aid From Wilson

The establishment of an international court to try the former Kaiser and those persons high in the military and civil governments of Germany and Austria-Hungary held responsible for the war is urged upon the Peace Conference by the District of Columbia Chapter of the Sons of the Revolution.

The proposal, which is put in the form of resolutions, was made and sponsored by the Rev. Randolph H. McKim, of the Church of the Epiphany, of Washington, one of the best-known Episcopal clergymen in the United States.

President Wilson and members of the American peace delegation in Paris are requested to present the resolutions to the Peace Conference, and the President is asked also to appoint three American jurists to the Allied Governments in their efforts "to obtain evidence fixing the responsibility for the numerous crimes committed against God and humanity since the outbreak of the war."

The resolutions were carried by a unanimous vote of the organization.

OPEN FIFTH LOAN APRIL 6

Second Anniversary of War Considered by Treasury.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Opening of the fifth Liberty Loan campaign April 6, the second anniversary of the declaration of war against Germany, is under consideration by Treasury officials, but no decision has been reached The third Liberty Loan drive started on April 6, 1918, the first anniversary.

It is planned to have the campaign run for three weeks and to ask for between $5,000,000,000 and $6,000,000,000. Whether the interest rate will be higher than the 4 1-4 per cent. borne by the last issues depends partly on the movement of the market price of Liberty bonds during the next two months. The bonds will be of short maturity—in the neighborhood of five years.

Advertising posters for the fifth loan have been partially chosen and organizers already are making preliminary plans for sales campaigns. Motion pictures and public speakers will be used extensively.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Dispatches from Berlin resurrect Dr. Karl Liebknecht, saying the reports that he was killed proved false.

German troops in Cologne decorated Wilhelm's statue with a dunce's cap, a traveling bag and a cane soon after his flight became known. On the back of the statue was written, "Here goes the great scoundrel."

Luxemburg was proclaimed a republic on Friday, when the Grand Duchess Marie retired from the capital, taking up quarters in a chateau nearby, according to a dispatch from Munich. The chamber held an excited meeting, the Clericals quitting the house in a body.

Thomas Watt Gregory, Attorney General of the United States since 1914, has resigned because of "pecuniary responsibilities" and will return to the practice of law. President Wilson has agreed to his retirement next March 4.

Ignace Jan Paderewski, the Polish leader, has been slightly wounded by an assassin who entered the room of his hotel at Warsaw and fired one shot at him, according to a dispatch from Copenhagen reporting advices from Vienna. Several bolsheviki implicated in the plot to kill him have been arrested.

When the reigning Duke Bernhard, of the Duchy of Saxe-Meiningen, abdicated at the request of the representatives of the Council of Workmen and Soldeirs, he refused to have his son sign away his rights of accession. The council finally agreed to grant him $1,000,000 if all rights to his succession were renounced.

With the organized farmers of the country demanding a Congressional investigation of the Department of Agriculture, and the Commercial Telegraphers' Union demanding Congressional investigation of Postmaster General Burleson's administration of the wire and cable systems of the country. Washington is today viewing with some apprehension the threatened organization of a new national labor party.

Capt. B. B. Lipsner, former head of the proposed aerial mail service, announced yesterday in Chicago that a corporation is in process of formation which will have as its object the operation of aerial passenger service between Chicago, New York and intermediate cities. Three giant planes, capable of carrying forty persons, will be constructed at a cost of approximately $70,000 each. The corporation will be known as the Aero Navigation Company of America, with a capitalization of $1,000,000. The first flight is planned for June 1.

A fire, believed to be of incendiary origin, which started yesterday in the plant of the Jennings Autoobile Company in Montreal and spread to the buildings of the Hudson Bay Company and the McClary Manufacturing Company, caused damage estimated at $1,000,000. One hundred and fifty automobiles and motor trucks, and eight military ambulances were destroyed in the blaze. Discharged employes of the Jennings plant made threats some days ago which caused the concern to ask for a military guard. The request was refusd by the authorities.

In a high running sea with the temperature 7 below zero, forty-five members of the crew of the sinking steamship Castalia were rescued by the Norwegian steamer Bergensfjord and brought to Halifax, N. S. The Castalia, in a helpless condition, had drifted to within ten miles of the treacherous sands of Sable Island before the Bergensfjord, the first steamer to answer her "S. O. S." calls reached Halifax. Battered by the heavy seas, the Castalina Great Lakes steamer of 3,092 tons, for New York for overseas service under the direction of the Shipping Board, sprung a leak. She is one of the steamers that were built at lake shipyards then cut in two and towed through the Welland Canal and then put together again at the St. Lawrence.

BAVARIA'S APPEAL

Premier Says Berlin's Example is Producing Epidemic of InSanity

Premier Eisner, of Bavaria, has telegraphed to the Berlin Government an appeal that the warfare there be brought to an end. The telegram says:

"With growing horror we follow the murderous civil war. It must end unless all Germany is slowly to perish. Berlin's example everywhere is having a demoralizing effect and is producing an epidemic of insanity. The only means of salvation appear to be a Government sustained by the confidence of the people, comprising all Socialist parties and resolved to bring democracy and socialism to victory.

"Everywhere in South Germany the anger against Berlin is growing. At the same time similar persons here are calling also for fratricidal warfare."

HARBOR STRIKE AT END

Boat Owners Will Attend War Labor Board Meeting Today If Manly Is Barred.

New York, Jan. 13.—With New York's harbor strike ended yesterday by the decision of 16,000 members of the Marine Workers' Affiliation to return to work pending arbitration by the National War Labor Board Joseph Moran, president of the New York Towboat Exchange, announced last night that private boat owners would attend the hearing of the board here today, and, under certain conditions, would receive with the utmost respect any suggestion it may decide to offer.

Virtually a normal Sunday force manned the tugs, ferries and lighters operating in the harbor yesterday. Union leaders said that the entire force of 16,000 men would be on the job this morning and would continue work pending the War Labor Board's decision on their demands for higher wages and an eight-hour day. A resumption of the strike was threatened however, in the event the boat owners refuse to abide by the findings of the board.

TWENTY-ONE KILLED

Limited Train Crashes Into Rear End of Express at South Byron Station, New York.

Batavia, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Twenty-one persons were killed, three seriously injured, one perhaps fatally and seven others slightly hurt on the New York Central at South Byron at 3:36 o'clock yesterday morning when the Southwestern limited crashed into the rear end of the Wolverine express, standing at the South Byron Station.

More than an hour late, the Southwestern hit the rear car of the Wolverine, and crumpled the second coach from the rear, an old type wooden coach, to flinders. Everybody killed was in this car.

Only three so far have been definitely identified.

All the others are so badly crushed that identification is difficult, if not impossible.

When the crash came the Southwestern jammed the rear steel Pullman sleeper through the wooden coach as if through tissue and demolished it. The crash was so severe that all the bodies were shoved into a pile and mutilated.

VIRGINIA NEWS

The barns and stables of Lucien Keith, in Fauquier county, were burned Friday. Mr. Keith was in Warrenton, but Mrs. Keith saved the live stock.

William Jennings Bryan was a visitor Friday at "Hayfield," the home of Alexander Berger, near Fredericksburg. Mr. Berger's daughter is the wife of William J. Bryan, Jr.

The stockholders of the Winchester and Martinsburg Turnpike Company, in annual meeting Saturday in Winchester, adopted a resolution tendering the road to the State Highway Commission as part of the Virginia highway system. No compensation is asked for the roadbed if the offer is accepted by Commissioner Coleman. Acceptance by the State would automatically abolish the tollgate now maintained near the city limits. It is said to be the only road tollgate between the Pennsylvania and Roanoke.

Hollis Snapp, of Frederick county, who recently married Miss May Fisher, adopted daughter of A. B. Braithwaite, of Martinsburg, W. Va., was arrested Saturday in Winchester on a charge of bigamy preferred by the prosecuting attorney, to whom the case had been reported by neighbors of the young couple. Snapp admitted a previous marriage, but said he had been told it had long been invalidated because he and his first wife had not lived together for thirteen years. Snapp's bond was furnished by his second wife, who mortgaged her property to seucre it.

Locked inside a burning henhouse, three year old Arlington Parsley, son of Luther J Parsley, of Richmond, was burned to death Thursday. He was missed from the house and while the family was searching for him, the burning henhouse was discovered. The door was discovered bolted from the inside. When firemen arrived with chemical apparatus the child was found burned to a crisp. A quantity of excelsior was in the hennery and it is supposed that the child ignited it while playing with matches after thoughtlesly barring the door.

KILLED BY HIS WIFE

Westbury, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Javques Lebaudy, "emperor of the Sahara," one of the most picturesque characters from an international standpoint of the pre-war days, was shot and killed early yesterday evening by his wife at their home, The Lodge here.

Lebaudy was shot as he was entering ghis home and a coherent explanation of the tragedy could not be obtained. It is known that Mr. Lebaudy and his wife have not been living together for some time but just what led up to the shooting is not known.
